FOR THE DIOCESE OF BURLINGTON

Respect Life Month: Moved by Mercy!

Each October, Catholics in the United States observe “Respect Life Month,” highlighting our commitment to protecting the dignity of all human life from conception until natural death. This year’s theme, “Moved by Mercy,” focuses on ways we can do this by means of the works of mercy.

Performing the spiritual works of mercy can sometimes be more challenging than attending to corporal works when it comes to life issues. Here in Vermont, where abortion laws are among the most permissive in the country, and where physician-assisted suicide is legal, pro-life views are often met with derision, animosity and misunderstanding.

And yet it is our duty to “Instruct the ignorant, counsel the doubtful, and admonish the sinner,” even—and perhaps especially—when it’s unpopular. Knowing and being able to articulate where we stand is important if we are to be “salt, light and leaven” in the effort to build a culture of life and to pursue public policy that respects the dignity of the human person in all areas.

The United States Conference of Catholic Bishops wisely refrains from endorsing specific candidates, but that doesn’t mean they are silent on the importance of pro-life issues in the creation of public policy. In their document, Forming Consciences for Faithful Citizenship, available online, they admonish Catholics not to place on equal footing the “different kinds of issues involving human life and dignity. The direct and intentional destruction of innocent human life from the moment of conception until natural death is always wrong and is not just one issue among many. It must always be opposed.”

This October, challenge yourself to be ready to speak up on behalf of life the next time the opportunity arises. You can find helpful resources on the Diocesan Website under “Respect Life.”

“An Inland See” (Howard Coffin (L. Brown and Sons Printing Inc.: Barre, Vermont, 2001)) tells a brief history of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Burlington from its birth until the new millennium (2000). Then Bishop Kenneth A. Angell initiated the project, declaring that “it is the duty of Catholics who live today to record, preserve and pass on our story to those yet to come.” In his introduction to the completed book, he encourages readers to “now do likewise, adding our own moments in history and passing them along.” That is the hope for this new, diocesan bulletin, “News from The Inland See” — to add our own moments to the history of the Catholic Church in Vermont. Each week, you will find information about upcoming events and opportunities in this one-page bulletin insert. Consider attending, volunteering at, or praying for the various happenings of our diocese and be a part of the moments that contribute to the Catholic Church in Vermont today.
